Born in Alsace, my upbringing brings a touch of European charm to my work and life in Canada since I moved from my homeland in 2011. Living amidst the vineyards and lakes of the Okanagan, I've developed a profound appreciation for its beauty and serenity. I'm deeply involved in the hospitality industry, dedicated to providing exceptional experiences for guests in the hotels I manage. With years of experience in hospitality, I've contributed to the success of various ventures, always striving for excellence in service. One of my greatest pleasures is exploring the diverse culinary offerings of the Okanagan Valley, from farm-fresh produce to exquisite wine pairings.
